JANAV DUA

From the quiet corridors of legacy, where power is felt more than spoken, the “Godfather” of Auction and Business Simulation Committees is back in action, Janav Dua. Currently working as an Associate Software Engineer at Icertis, he is known for carrying the calm authority of Vito Corleone. The mind behind transforming auctions into arenas of business and financial strategy, simulating entire business models, he works with patience, precision, and instinct. In his committee, words carry weight, silence carries meaning, and when the moment arrives, he will make you an offer you cannot refuse.
